AMERICANS IN LAUSANNE.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland Among Those Who Reside There.

Letters from Switzerland state that Lausanne is crowded with Americans who have begun to descend from the mountains. Lausanne, "the cathedral city of the lake," enjoys an unusual distinction. It has not only a season peculiarly its own, but, in addition, at this time it is the rallying point of the throngs who, during the summer, have been doing the mountain resorts.

That Lausanne has particularly appealed to Americans is evidenced by the fact that while, as compared with this time last year, when the number of visiting Americans registered amounted to 1,065, they have this season nearly doubled and are steadily increasing, as, for example, when the number rose from 1,375 to 1,915 in a week.

The Lake of Geneva district, indeed, has always appealed to Americans, many of whom have established villas along its shores. The Remens Whitehouses have one of the most charmingly situated villas imaginable, just outside of Ouchy, which is Lausanne's lake port and practically continuous with it. Lausanne was recently selected by Mrs. Grover Cleveland as a place of residence and of education for her children.
